

January 1999

NHeLP has launched a new project to preserve access to reproductive health services. As part of this in

- Educate federal and state policy makers working on Medicaid and welfare reform to increase awar
- Impact public policy developments by working with federal administrative personnel implementing
- Monitor state-level access to family planning in Medicaid managed care;
- Expand outreach and education on Medicaid, Medicaid managed care and access to reproductive
- Produce fact sheets, checklists, and other advocacy tools; and
- Provide technical assistance to local and national advocacy groups and women's health services

As part of this effort, NHeLP also has joined with the California Women's Law Center (CWLC) to form