

On October 21, 2002, the Supreme Court let stand a lawsuit accusing North Carolina of condemning po

Only 16 percent of North Carolina's dentists will accept patients enrolled in the health program for the po

The lawsuit was filed on behalf of Medicaid-covered children who had to endure pain and ultimately und

Dr. Margaret E Lochary of Matthews, president of the North Carolina Academy of Pediatric Dentistry, sa

A spokesman for North Carolina Attorney General Roy Cooper said his office was forced to defend the l

North Carolina Special Deputy Attorney General Ronald M. Marquette told the Supreme Court in papers

The state continues to try to get the case dismissed in the district court on other grounds.