

On May 3, 2004, the Eighth Circuit, in King v. City of Denver, 2004 WL 862501 (8th Cir. 2/15/04), held that the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) does not prohibit a city from charging a fee for disabled placards.