

The Supreme Court has agreed to hear Born on April 25, 2017.

Title IX is patterned after Title V and contains almost identical language.

The regulation at issue, promulgated by the Department of Education,

No recipient [of federal funds] or other person shall intimidate, threaten,

It seems relatively clear that the Supreme Court would have agreed

The much harder case for the plaintiff is whether the party who

But given the fact that the Bush Administration is now in power,

One way might be to pick up on 532, 516, & 2815's language that

The rules that the Supreme Court has been creating to determine
